August: Our Wintertime in the Summer

Even though nature seems to slow down and stop in the winter, the action never really stops. Plants lose their leaves, their sap withdrawn down into the roots for safekeeping until the return of warmer weather.

But there’s activity in winter’s depths. Underground, roots are preparing for Springtime’s surge of new growth. That’s kind of like what we have here at UUCLV, but in the Summer, rather than winter.

Church services continue, but things seem somehow less urgent and busy. We have an abbreviated music program, our children’s RE program (the theology of Star Wars this year), is mostly out of sight as well, since the children spend the summer away from our worship services.

But, just like nature, preparations continue “underground.” Committees plan for the coming year, many of them conducting retreats for that purpose. The Board has a retreat as well, incorporating its new members and developing visions for the coming year together.

Our Action Planning Team has been busy as well. Following last Spring’s church-wide retreat to continue a visioning process that began with a congregational survey, they’ve worked hard to integrate our responses with all that we’ve learned from visiting other (thriving) congregations. We read and discussed The Growing Church and mined it for inspirations and suggestions.

And now the Action Planning Team has identified five major areas for our consideration toward making our congregation as healthy and vital as we hope to be. We’ll soon be seeing some of the results in the form of materials for further discussion.

In other news, we’ve hired a new Sexton, Jorge Zapata, to help us care for our facilities – a long-needed step as our former Sexton, Jansen Wendell, transitions into more of a home health aide role with his aging mother.

Our preparations to celebrate our 70th Anniversary are taking shape as well. Look toward the weekend of September 22-23 for some really great activities!

Of course, this is only a fraction of all the good work that’s been going on all summer long. If you’re part of the action – thanks! If not, there’s still lots to do!

See you in church.

– Don

FROM THE PRESIDENT

If you show me commitment, then I may learn to love as you do, then I may learn to love. These words from Shelley Jackson Denham's hymn, "When I Am Frightened" have resonated a lot as I move into the position as president and see so much commitment. At its June meeting, the Board approved the Finance Committee's recommendation to use the additional $10,000 bequest from the Estate of Bob Williamson to revise the 2018-19 budget to reflect full payment of our UUA Fair Share dues. I remember participating in a Sunday Forum with Bob as he reached his 100th year and his telling us how he loves this congregation, it gets him up, out and stimulated. He still is showing his love, and the Board is keeping our commitment to UUA, making us whole again, as some have said, as we use the resources of the UUA in our programming, governance and inspiration for social action. In other Board business, we decided not to fill the sixth at-large-trustee position, vacated by a resignation in May due to change in employment status, in anticipation of our transformational planning efforts and the desire to streamline our governance. We are also looking for a youth representative for the Board, someone who'll ask the important questions. Lastly, please seriously consider the Action Planning Team's "Call for Action" and participate in a goal discernment task force, as we show our commitment and love for UUCLV's future.

GET YOUR MEETING / EVENT ON THE UUCLV CALENDAR

Urgent! A reminder that the UUCLV church calendar gets wiped clean on July 1, the start of our new church year. Please use the Room Reservation form on our UUCLV website to schedule all regularly recurring events – like committee meetings, films, classes, etc – as well as one-time events like the Spaghetti Dinner or Plant Sale. This includes events you posted on the wall calendars at the recent Program Council meeting, where did calendaring for 2018-19. Questions? Contact the office at uuclv@uuclvpa.org.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE OF PASTORAL CARE AT UUCLV

We are back to the drawing board, as we earnestly seek to provide excellent pastoral care to the members and friends of our community. We are intensely aware of how this ministry is of the utmost importance to us all. Before we create a new plan, we want to hear from each of you.

In that light, the Pastoral Care Task Force will be sending a short, five question survey to all members and friends by early August. The survey will explore how you view the delivery of pastoral care at UUCLV and how and why you might or might not request such. We also seek ideas and suggestions you would like to share. Please be on the lookout for this very brief survey on your computer screen! For those without computers, a paper survey will be available. The results will be treated with confidentiality and will help inform the program to be put in place for the coming program year.

At the same time, a member of the Pastoral Care Team will send a confidential written request to actual recipients of pastoral care from October 2017 through June 2018 to assess their satisfaction and seek their suggestions for improvement. Our thanks to everyone in advance for adding their voice to this matter. If you have questions, please contact Karen West.

Gratitude

She is an unapologetic educator, organizer, writer, and speaker who delivered the 2018 Ware Lecture at the General Assembly of the Unitarian Universalist Association.

FROM THE LIFESPAN EDUCATION COORDINATOR

How do we increase participation in the RE program, and how do we let the rest of the Lehigh Valley know about our wonderful religious education program? Those are questions the RE Committee were pondering this summer. We have a lot to offer to children and parents who are searching for a Sunday school that teaches the values of respect, love, justice, caring and inquisitiveness. The committee is researching ways to get the word out to those parents who are not aware that we exist but would love our approach to religious education. We just concluded a committee retreat and developed some great action items for making worship more family inclusive and for reaching out beyond our walls to raise our profile in the community. We plan to contact local colleges this fall so we can be a presence at activities where we can set up an information table. We will also be conducting a survey of adult members and friends about their experiences in both children's and adult religious education, and a separate survey of upper elementary, middle school and senior high students about their religious education experiences. We have so much to offer, it is a shame when people don't know we exist!

Other familiar curricula are Building Your Own Theology, and Our Whole Lives for adults. Perhaps you would like something more open-ended such as a discussion group about an important topic such as journaling, end-of life issues or raising spiritual children. Let Jansen Wendell know what you would like at lec@uuclvpa.org.

UUCLV DECLUTTERING PARTIES IN SEPTEMBER

As we get ready for our beloved UUCLV 70th Anniversary weekend, September 22-23, 2018, we are asking our church members & friends to help "declutter" the church building so we have a great showing to the community-at-large for our "Open House". It's something we need to do anyway!

The many closets, the FM kitchen, hallways, class rooms, and more, all need to be decluttered. Many items, that have been taking our precious space, will be considered to be removed. Please join the 70th Anniversary Task Force in this effort on both September 8th and 15th from 9:00 am to Noon (or at least one day).

We are having a pizza party at noon on both days. For more information and to sign up, contact our Board President Cecilia Eberhard at eberhard1400@gmail.com or president@uuclvpa.org or Property Committee Chair Dora Davenport at doradavenport@msn.com or property@uuclvpa.org Your help would be greatly appreciated!

September 28 - "The Empire's War on the Border" looks at the immigration issue and what we can do about it.

THANK YOU ALL!

Once again our church community has opened up their hearts to those less fortunate. Our Wednesday Night Showers has become not only a night where bodies can be refreshed but also a gathering of friends with a safe place to talk and to enjoy refreshments for a few hours. We will continue this outreach into the summer. Your continued support is appreciated by our volunteers and guests. We like to offer clean socks and underwear when needed and our stock has diminished. If you think of it when you are out and about; we could use some men's socks and large and xlarge underwear. Thank you again for supporting this effort. GO UUCLV !!!!!

CHAPERONES NEEDED FOR UUCLV EVENT RENTALS

The UUCLV is looking for adult church members and friends to work as paid chaperones for party/event rentals at the church. Event chaperoning is generally a 9 hour shift, usually Saturday mid-afternoon until 11pm+. The pay rate had just been increased to $15 an hour. The rental events are usually parties or showers, with food, alcohol, and music, with 70-150 attendees.

Chaperones work solo, and must know the church / facility extremely well; have sole responsibility for the entire building, safety, liability and security during the event; and serve as church representative and ambassador, event manager, security person, mediator, and enforcer. Chaperones need to insure that UUCLV / rental contract rules are followed, and our neighbors respected. The chaperone also inspects the building at the event's end to determine security deposit status. If interested, please contact the Administrator at the church office at uuclv@uuclvpa.org.

UNITARIAN UNIVERSALISTS JOIN MOVEMENT TO ABOLISH IMMIGRATION AND CUSTOMS ENFORCEMENT

By Michael Hart, from UU World Magazine, July, 2018

On July 2, an estimated 100 Unitarian Universalists joined more than a thousand demonstrators in San Diego to protest the introduction of Operation Streamline, a fast-track prosecution program that moves immigrants through the criminal justice system in large groups with little time for or effort given to due process. The program has been in place for several years in some cities in Arizona and Texas. July 2 marked its introduction to Southern California.

The sizable contingent of UUs was part of the Free Our Future demonstration led by Mijente, a national Latinx political organization that is calling for the abolition of the Immigration and Customs Enforcement agency (ICE). The UUs present were joined by members of other faith communities from around the country, including rabbis from Minnesota and Mormon religious leaders from Utah, among others.

By the time two demonstrators scaled a 16-story hotel and unfurled a huge banner that read “Free Our Families Now,” two Unitarian Universalist ministers had already been removed from the nearby Edward J. Schwartz U.S. Courthouse. Five more UU ministers joined about twenty others representing a range of faith communities in blocking an entrance to the courthouse.

“We just came off of our GA, where we made some bold statements about what we as people of faith hold to be true about where the world needs to go,” said the Rev. Ranwa Hammamy, a community minister affiliated with Mt. Diablo UU Church in Walnut Creek, California. “Our faith calls us to do this kind of work.”

The Unitarian Universalist Association General Assembly, held June 20–24 in Kansas City, MO, passed an Action of Immediate Witness advocating the abolition of ICE. During the GA, UUA President Susan Frederick-Gray called on UUs to join Mijente in San Diego.

Hammamy and the Rev. Elizabeth Nguyen, a senior strategist for Side with Love, were among six protesters who interrupted an immigration trial in the federal courtroom the morning of July 2. Federal officials stopped them and, in some cases, dragged them out of the courthouse by their hands and feet.

“We interrupted the court proceeding to say this is illegitimate when black and brown people are in cages,” Nguyen said. “We are the ones who have to be visionary. All of the violence calls us to match that violence with our own courage and love.”

About an hour later, Hammamy joined UU ministers the Rev. John Gibb Millspaugh, the Rev. Sarah Gibb Millspaugh, the Rev. Dr. Beth Johnson, the Rev. Kathleen Owens, and twenty other people in blocking the entrance to the federal courthouse.

“It is truly a moral responsibility and a moral call to put my body on the line,” said Johnson, the minister at Palomar UU Fellowship in suburban San Diego. “If we really affirm the inherent worth and dignity of every person, there isn’t anything else we can do.”

Although the demonstrators were warned twice by federal marshals that they could be arrested for creating a fire hazard, no arrests were made there.

However, ten people—including Nora Rasman, the UUA’s Side with Love campaign manager—were arrested after participating in the unfurling of the “Free Our Families Now” banner along the march route. Demonstrators were able to watch the unfurling just before arriving at the federal courthouse after marching about two miles from Chicano Park. All ten were released the following day, some with bail set as high as $50,000.

Rasman said she joined the action because she wants “to see more UUs responding to outrage with resources, skills, action, and prolonged commitment to groups fighting criminalization. When we say yes to these calls to action, we deepen relationships, build power, and develop our collective courage together.” She said, “Faith institutions can support their staff and clergy to take action, risk more, and leverage our capacity to flank those offering the most courageous leadership.”

Rasman said, “Black Lives of UU really showed up to support as well—in staff time, logistical coordination, and more prior to and during the action.”

There have been multiple calls for the abolition of ICE ever since the federal government adopted its “zero tolerance” policy that includes separating children from their parents at the southwestern U.S. border and moving the children to detention centers where their parents are not always able to contact them.

The San Diego demonstrations coincided with the introduction of Operation Streamline to the area. Under the program, people caught at the border are charged with illegal entry or re-entry and turned over directly to the U.S. Department of Justice.

In mass prosecution procedures, as many as 70 or 80 people are brought before a federal magistrate at once, often sharing a single government-appointed lawyer and allowed no more than 25 seconds each for a hearing.

The Rev. Tania Márquez, assistant minister at First UU Church of San Diego, said, "Our faith calls us to do this kind of work. There is an urgency to what is happening at the border."
