April: What Does It Mean to Be a People of Emergence?

Springtime is the perfect season to consider "emergence." We see it all around us – flowers bravely pushing up out of the soil toward the sun, the emergence of leaves and buds on the trees, and even the subtle but certain increase of the daylight hours.

How can we participate in emergence? It may seem like it happens without any effort on our part, but we can make a bit of room. Leave a little space. Keep a lookout for the unexpected. These are often life's favorite ways to help us emerge into something new.

During this time of year, it's not just farmers but us all who turn to the work of "tilling and turning up our whole soil." All around us, the culture shouts its heroic talk about striving and perfecting. Struggle is the dominant metaphor of the day. We talk of "fighting" to become all we can be. Yet, we need to be careful because, more often than not, emergence and transformation is a much subtler art. It's about stillness, listening and waiting to be led, not conquering, struggling and taking charge.

In other words, when it comes to emerging into something new, the message of spirituality is "Be careful with what you've been taught and told because much of it takes us in exactly the wrong direction." As a people of emergence, we are called to take a different tack. We've been entrusted with the wisdom that emergence is most often about noticing and appreciating rather than improving; patience rather than perfection; and cherishing depth over dominance.

Appreciating instead of improving is especially important. It's so easy to get transformation mixed up with fixing. And fixing is emergence's biggest foe. Trying to perfect or prove ourselves is the surest way to stay stuck. The pursuit of constant improvement and perfection focuses us on our inadequacy and inferiority, leading us to overlook the splendor of the potential unfolding all around us – and within us as well.

And, friends, emergence helps us notice new paths, awaken new songs in us. It reminds us that new life is not something we do alone. It assures us that transformation doesn't have to be a long and lonely struggle, but instead can be more like learning a new dance with a new friend.

So, this month, leave some room for the unexpected. Keep your eyes peeled. And when an unexpected guest reaches out its hand, make sure you're ready to take hold.

See you in church.

– Don

REACHING OUT

Reading different books on church growth has pointed out that our planning efforts require our membership to be willing to change from a “private” congregation where we are perfectly happy as we are, i.e. the “Y’all come, we’d love to have you” mentality to a “public” congregation, where we reach out to the community and work to bring in people of various backgrounds. Our Y’all mentality has resulted in no growth. Over the last 20 years we have stayed at an approximate membership of 200, with a slow but steady decline. As noted in my December article, several new members are finding it hard to break into our “closed” society.

To become an open congregation requires a significant change in the attitude of some of us. It is super important to become less introverted and more extraverted and reach out to potential members and invite them in. Then, happily absorb them into our beloved congregation.

Inviting them in is a significant departure from our historical norm.

The open/public congregation is not only open but has programs designed for these new people. This requires a planned effort to attract specific segments of the community such as young families, single parent families, former Christians who have become un-churched, inter-racial families, etc. This involves programs specifically designed for these folks, such as small group meetings, get-togethers, pot lucks, etc. - Activities that will absorb these new people into our beloved community.

Our new web site has been designed to attract younger families. We are hopeful that it will help bring in people who find what we have to offer to be attractive. It is planned to go on stream in a few weeks. Bottom line, it will depend on us to be open and welcoming to these new people. The Action Planning Team will be addressing these issues. My hope is that we will all be contributors to their success.

Remember, join a committee and have some fun.

HANDICAPPED ACCESS ELEVATOR PROJECT NEARING COMPLETION

The Handicapped Access Elevator Project, which started last fall, is making significant progress towards completion. The construction of a concrete shaft extending from the church’s basement to the sanctuary level is complete and elevator door portals have been opened on four levels of the building, i.e. 100 level, Community Room level, RE level and the sanctuary level. Most of the electrical work has also been completed. If you were in church recently, you will have noticed that carpentry modifications are underway on the right side of the alter to provide access to and from the elevator. The actual elevator is currently being installed by the manufacturer. Once the elevator is installed, the remaining work will include testing, finish work, and inspections. The Capital Projects Committee believes the elevator will be available for use by the end of March or early April.

Operationally, the elevator will be accessed from three levels, the Community Room, the RE level, and the sanctuary. Even though there will be a fourth stop at the Room 100 level, that opening will be ‘locked’ pending a future project which will provide access to the gym.

The projected final cost of the project is estimated at approximately $186,000.

FROM THE LIFESPAN EDUCATION COORDINATOR

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION (RE) FOR CHILDREN & YOUTH

This is a big month for the Coming of Age class. Their recognition service is on April 29. The youth will read their faith statements, and I'm sure we will be treated to some music by them. I have been thinking back to my time as a young person in Sunday school at Main Line Unitarian Church. It was before all the wonderful curricula were developed by the UUA, such as Neighboring Faiths, Our Whole Lives and Coming of Age. I really would have benefitted from these programs, particularly Our Whole Lives. I had almost no formal sex education. The public high school class was one semester and it didn't go much past simple biology. There was nothing about healthy relationships, disease prevention, contraception or the emotional turmoil us guys went through during puberty. Of course, any mention of sexual orientation was out of bounds. I am very proud of our denomination for creating this comprehensive, age appropriate sexuality curriculum. It has given countless young people the skills to be confident healthy sexual beings, armed with complete and correct information. I am also very proud of our congregation's commitment to Middle School OWL.

I also would have benefitted from a program like Coming of Age. It gives the youth the same kind of boost with respect to their religious lives that OWL does for their sexuality. Our youth will know about Unitarian Universalism, and have the encouragement and skills to set out on a lifelong path of spiritual learning. They will be able to better articulate and defend their beliefs. Even if they don't remain UUs, their choices about their religious affiliation will be more conscious. Our youth are blessed to have such a committed and affirming group of teachers and mentors. I hope we will see you at their service on the 29th. Your presence will be a great support for them.

In faith, Jansen Wendell,
Dir of Lifespan Religious Education / lec@uucvpa.org

ADULT RELIGIOUS EDUCATION:

INSPIRING OUR ETHICAL AND SPIRITUAL LIFE: AN EXAMINATION OF WORLD RELIGIONS

During our 2017-2018 year, our adult religious education class will be examining the religions of the world that give us inspiration to build our ethical and spiritual lives. This class will examine the traditions of Egypt, Iran, India, China, Israel, Arabia and European Christianity.

Loosely based on Neighboring Faiths, a UUA curriculum for fifth and sixth graders, Rev. Capoor will be presenting new material from all of these areas. There will be speakers from many of the faith traditions and field trips to their worship services within the Lehigh Valley.

The class continues at 9am in the RE Library. Please let Jansen Wendell (lec@uucvpa.org) or Rev. Robin Capoor ([robin Kapoor@msn.com](mailto:robin Kapoor@msn.com)) know if you are interested in participating.

MINDFULNESS PRACTICE GROUP

(Tuesday evenings, 7:00 – 8:15pm, the Community Room)

With the help of conscious breathing, we are able to touch and to be nourished by the peace and joy available within and around us, in the here and now. With continued practice, we shall touch and understand the roots of the pain that lie deep within us, such as fear, anger, despair, thus making transformation and healing possible.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE: 1ST QUARTER REPORT

We, the members of the property committee, would like UUCLV's members and friends to know about current projects that were completed and those that are in progress at the end of the first quarter of 2018.

Completed projects include:

- Replacement of some heating thermostats in both the sanctuary and gym
- Replacement of a valve diaphragm in the furnace room.
- Newly repaired & painted walls in the FM kitchen and the wall going up the stairwell to sanctuary.
- Restoration of the Center Street stained glass window by Lamb Studios Glass Works of Midland Park, New Jersey. This is the larger upper stained glass window in back of the sanctuary facing Center Street. We are grateful for the support of the Board of Trustees for allowing this investment in the beautification and maintenance of our sanctuary.
- Repair of three stained glass ventilator inserts will be completed by Lamb Studios shortly. Each one will have one of our core values inscribed within the glass. Hopefully, by the time you read this article, those ventilators will be back in place. Take notice.

Continuing project:

- Replacement of 14 emergency light units throughout the building.
- Replacement of three fluorescent ceiling light fixtures—two were in Headstart/Nursery room and one in room #208.
- Replacement of the Wall Street door with a newer and lighter one. We have received four quotes at the time of this writing; however, it is going to take time for our committee to find the correct solution. There are many components to this project. As soon as we are able to develop the best plan possible for correcting the problem, we will implement it as soon as possible.

Respectfully submitted by:

Karen Berry, Pat Herring, Rich Taylor, Ilse Zinnes, Judy Wright, Jansen Wendell, Dora Davenport, Chair

The children will be evacuated by their RE teachers/advisors. Please do not try to connect with them before we have all gathered outside in the back lawn/courtyard. The teacher must take attendance after the evacuation. We will reenter the church after the drill for our regular social/coffee hour in the community room.

APRIL 8: THE DAVE ROPER TRIO AND JAZZ DAY AT THE UUCLV!

Sunday, April 8 is Jazz Day at the UUCLV! The morning service will be a jazz service (stay tuned for details) followed by the final Second Sunday Concert of the current season at 3:00 pm featuring the ever popular Dave Roper Trio – Dave Roper, piano, Paul Rostock, bass, and Gary Rissmiller, drum set. The immensely popular Dave Roper Trio played for many years at the King George Inn in Dorneyville, and then at other venues in the Lehigh Valley. In addition, Dave – a UUCLV member – has played many benefit concerts for non-profit organizations in the Valley. His ability to integrate jazz and classical music is always evident as he matches up great melodies from both genres of music, and smoothly segues from one to the other. Paul and Gary teach at many of the institutions of higher learning in the Valley, and are both highly sought after by jazz groups, on both the local and national level. Both have played with well-known celebrities in the jazz world.

As usual, you will have an opportunity to meet the artists at our wonderful post-concert reception.

$17 general admission; students are free. Sunday, April 8 at 3:00 p.m. in the sanctuary. Tickets will be available at the door, or may be purchased on-line at www.concertseries.uuclvpa.org. They will also be available to purchase after the service on April 1 and 8.
